MICHIGAN STATE CITIZEN CORPS COUNCIL

Michigan Citizen Corps helps communities coordinate volunteers to prepare for and respond to local emergencies. It trains and engages volunteers to make communities safer, stronger, and better prepared to respond to emergencies and disasters of all kinds, including threats of terrorism, natural disasters, crime, and public health issues.

When Michigan Citizen Corps began in April of 2002, the priority was to coordinate its activities with Michigan's Emergency Management. This coordination has been the success of Michigan Citizen Corps and was recently written into the states Homeland Security Plan.

Michigan Citizen Corps works closely with State and Federal Departments of Homeland Security, the Michigan State Police Division of Emergency Management, Michigan Department of Community Health, Corporation for National and Community Service and numerous key affiliates to promote Citizen Corps programs statewide.

Michigan Citizen Corps experienced tremendous growth in 2004. Council growth went from 16 to 45 councils (17 local and 28 county), an increase of 181.25%. Recent successes are the Arab translation of the CERT program and CERT training of the sports staff at Michigan's major league sports arenas

Currently under development is the TEEN School Emergency Response Training (SERT) program begun at Milan High School as a dual enrollment course in which students receive college credit from Eastern Michigan University. The Governor's advisor on Homeland Security will be working with Michigan Citizen Corps and Eastern Michigan University to promote the TEEN SERT program.

Also under development, in cooperation with the Michigan State Police Emergency Management Division, is a database of all Michigan citizens that are disaster trained. Locating and identifying Michigan trained volunteers is critical to strengthen first responders and emergency management if a statewide disaster occurs.

2005 GOALS

To synchronize Michigan Citizen Corps programs with National Priorities, National Incident Management System Guidelines, and 2005 Homeland Security Grant Guidelines.

THE SEVEN SIGNS OF TERRORISM

1. Surveillance:

Someone recording or monitoring activities. This may include the use of cameras (either still or video), note taking, drawing diagrams, annotating on maps, or using binoculars or other vision-enhancing devices.

2. Elicitation:

People or organizations attempting to gain information about military operations, capabilities, or people. Elicitation attempts may be made by mail, fax, telephone, or in person.

3. Tests of security:

Any attempts to measure reaction times to security breaches or to penetrate physical security barriers or procedures in order to assess strengths and weaknesses.

4. Acquiring supplies:

Purchasing or stealing explosives, weapons, ammunition, etc. Also includes acquiring military uniforms, decals, flight manuals, passes or badges (or the equipment to manufacture such items) or any other controlled items.

5. Suspicious persons out of place:

People who don't seem to belong in the workplace, neighborhood, business establishment, or anywhere else. Includes suspicious border crossings and stowaways aboard ship or people jumping ship in port.

6. Dry run/Trial Run:

Putting people into position and moving them around according to their plan without actually committing the terrorist act. This is especially true when planning a kidnapping, but it can also pertain to bombings. An element of this activity could also include mapping out routes and determining the timing of traffic lights and flow.

7. Deploying assets:

People and supplies getting into position to commit the act. This is a person's last chance to alert authorities before the terrorist act occurs.

MSP EMD Information

Overview

Emergency management is about protecting lives and property, about protecting the environment, and about making our communities safer. In Michigan, the Michigan State Police Emergency Management Division (EMD) takes the lead in coordinating state, federal, local, and volunteer resources to prevent and lessen the effects of disasters. Whether a disaster is caused by natural events such as tornadoes, floods, or blizzards or by man made events such as chemical spills, terrorism, or nuclear incidents, the Emergency Management Division is ready to protect Michigan's communities and citizens.

The cost of recent disasters has forever changed our views of emergency management. Major disasters have cost federal, state and local governments, business and insurers billions of dollars. Emergency management policy has evolved from emphasizing preparedness and response to focusing on mitigation - action that can lessen the cost and effect of future disasters.

The Michigan Emergency Management Act (390 PA 1976, as amended), provides EMD with the authority to coordinate state response and relief activities in the event of an emergency or disaster. EMD fosters and promotes an emergency management system that provides for improved training and education, public awareness, hazard mitigation, emergency and disaster preparedness, response and recovery programs. EMD provides services for the citizens of the State of Michigan, public and private agencies and other organizations through a network of district, county and local emergency management programs and coordinators.

Key Program Areas

Michigan Emergency Management Plan (MEMP). EMD is responsible for developing and continually reviewing and updating the MEMP. This document details emergency or disaster response policy and operating procedures for state government for all types of disasters.

State Emergency Operations Center (SEOC). The SEOC, located in Lansing, is where coordination of state disaster response is accomplished. Involved state agencies direct resources from this center.

Homeland Security. In August of 2002 the Michigan State Police created a Homeland Security Section within the Emergency Management Division. The section assists in combining the efforts of Michigan's government agencies, non-government organizations, private sector, and federal agencies to protect the state of Michigan through deterrence, prevention, preemption, and defense against attacks as well as the management of the consequences of and response to such attacks.

Emergency Management Funds. EMD administers federal funding to emergency management programs throughout the state for Homeland Security and All-Hazard emergency planning. EMD also coordinates disaster relief grants to state agencies, local governments and eligible private non-profit organizations.

Emergency Planning. EMD provides planning assistance to local jurisdictions and state agencies to address all types of hazards. Local plans and procedures are continuously reviewed by EMD to assure that they meet current program standards.

Hazardous Materials (HazMat) Planning. EMD coordinates the local hazardous material emergency planning program by providing guidance to Local Emergency Planning Committees (LEPCs).

Training. EMD provides training for public and private sector organizations in a variety of topic areas within the field of emergency management. EMD's Hazardous Materials Training Center provides a comprehensive program of cost effective training courses for individuals and private sector companies.

Public Information. EMD's communication and information services unit provides media and legislative liaison services for the division. The unit coordinates the release of both emergency and non-emergency information to the public in conjunction with local, state, federal and private sector organizations. The unit coordinates the state's Joint Public Information Center and Team during emergencies.

Radiological Emergency Preparedness. EMD coordinates state and local activities necessary to meet federal requirements as they relate to the commercial nuclear power plants in the state. These activities include training, exercising and planning assistance.

Exercising. EMD assists local jurisdictions in developing scenarios and conducting exercises to test a community's emergency operations plan and operational capability.

Hazard Mitigation. The Mitigation Unit is responsible for the development and statewide implementation of federal and state hazard mitigation programs and initiatives aimed at reducing or eliminating future damage and impacts from natural and technological hazards. The Unit coordinates the development of the Michigan Hazard Mitigation Plan (MHMP), facilitates the development of local mitigation plans, identifies mitigation opportunities and resources, develops mitigation recommendations, and coordinates implementation of selected mitigation measures under the general direction of the Michigan Hazard Mitigation Coordinating Council (MHMCC) created pursuant to Executive Order 1998-5. The Unit coordinates FEMA's Project Impact initiative within Michigan, working directly with selected communities to formulate public-private partnerships to build disaster resistant communities.

Field Liaison. Eight District coordinators serve as field staff for the division. They are responsible for the administration of EMD policy and programs, and for serving as EMD's "ambassadors" with local communities.
